LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

GOOD SUPPLY AND ACTIVE DEMAND IN MOST LINES.

Prices Firm to Strong, Except in Few Lines Influenced by Seasonable Conditions-Cereal Situation.

Trade in most lines is quite satisfactory, weather conditions considered. A little warmer weather would doubtless give trade a marked increase, especially would the dry goods houses be benefited. All lines of dry goods are in strong tone at the carefully revised prices of Tuesday. Wide sheeting advanced 1 cent a yard and several other lines were given fractional advances. All along the line firm prices rule. The millinery houses also are having a big trade as the season advances. In the drug lines firm prices are the feature. Paints and oils begin to move faster and an advance in the prices of oils and lead is imminent. In the grocery line there are no new features. A steady, strong tone to prices is noticeable, but no material advance. Leather, in sympathy with hides, is dull, and prices rule easier, but are unchanged. Hides are now selling at lower figures than in any spring of several years past. Stocks on commission row are quite large, and in several lines there is a tendency to lower prices. Especially is this true of vegetables, even Irish potatoes being weaker in tone, and it requires some coaxing to induce retail merchants to pay over 90c to 95c a bushel. Seed potatoes are moving quite freely. Oranges are taking on a firmer tone and an early advance in prices may be looked for. Apples are very firm and are selling slowly as there is no money to the retailer in handling them. The produce markets are very active. Eggs are weak at the reduction of Tuesday, and if receipts continue as heavy as during the last two days, another decline is probable. Choice butter is still in moderate supply and is selling well, while poor stock moves slowly. Poultry is in light supply, and good fat, healthy stock is in excellent demand. Hardware and iron merchants report trade as brisk and prices
